THE UNIVERSITY OF GUAM SOLICITS APPLICATIONS TO ESTABLISH A LIST OF ELIGIBLES FOR THE FOLLOWING POSITION (TENURE/NON-TENURE TRACK APPOINTMENT, FULL-TIME, SUBJECT TO THE AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS):

#012-25 ASSISTANT PROFESSOR (MARINE MICROBIOLOGY)

Location:	Marine Laboratory
University Information:	The University of Guam is the premier institution of higher education in the Western Pacific. It is a land-grant, a sea-grant, and a space-grant institution, accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges Senior Commission. Located in the village of Mangilao on the island of Guam, the campus overlooks the beautiful Pago Bay and the University's world-class Marine Laboratory and Water and Environmental Research Institute of the Western Pacific. The University has 3,400 students, 47% of Asian ethnicity and 45% of Pacific Islander ancestry, providing a uniquely diverse campus and multicultural atmosphere. As a regional, comprehensive, open-admissions institution, the University awards degrees at the certificate, baccalaureate, and master's levels through its two colleges and four professional schools. The institution's mission of Ina (to Enlighten), Diskubre (to Discover), Setbe (to Service) serve as the foundation for the institution's Para Hulo' strategic plan, with its vision to transform lives and advance communities as a land-grant, a sea-grant, and a space-grant university. One of the university's key strategic initiatives is to be recognized as a research university centered in Island Wisdom. Island Wisdom acknowledges that Pacific ways of knowing and Western models of higher education are central to the institution's teaching, research, and service endeavors, and that balanced consideration of the ideas that emerge from them is essential to the prosperity and sustainability of island communities. Through its robust research portfolio fueled by extramural funding from competitive grants and contracts, the University delivers public value through dedicated and capable administration, faculty, students, and staff. As a complement to the research carried out at the institution, the University of Guam has an active press dedicated to publishing research and writing about Guam and Micronesia. A variety of publishing opportunities are available to UOG faculty, employees, students, and members of the communities we serve through the University of Guam Press. UOG is a safe and secure campus, where the institution places paramount importance on the physical, intellectual, emotion, and spiritual wellbeing of its students and employees. It fosters open dialogue and collegiality based upon mutual respect for diverse perspectives. The university has enacted processes to ensure the physical safety of the campus (most recent information may be accessed at https://www.uog.edu/life-at-uog/safety-security) and a policy that encourages open dialogue and respect for all points of view. Community responsive academic programs, robust research agenda, ample publishing opportunities, and commitment to community make the University of Guam an exciting place to be for many years to come.
General Description:	The University of Guam is looking for an individual who is interested in new challenges and opportunities for professional and personal growth. This position calls for someone who is self-motivated and adaptable, intelligent, possesses a global vision and who is interested in working in a dynamic, multicultural institution.
Unit Description:	The University of Guam Marine Laboratory (UOGML) was founded in 1970 and serves as a major institution for marine science research in the Western Pacific and Micronesia. UOGML has a strong track record in basic and applied research in ecology, taxonomy, fisheries, and monitoring of coastal ecosystems. Recent research initiatives have expanded UOGML's capacities in marine genomics, coastal oceanography, and biodiversity collections, with an emphasis on land-sea connections, coastal development, marine biodiversity, and sustainability in the age of climate change. The UOGML is uniquely positioned to pursue the above agenda given its close proximity to some of the most diverse and unique marine environments in the world.
Character of Duties:	We are seeking an exceptional candidate with expertise in marine microbiology. The successful candidate will design, implement, and conduct research on tropical reef organisms and collaborate with ongoing ecological, physiological, and biodiversity studies at the Marine Laboratory. As such, we are seeking individuals who are collegial, collaborative, and can work well as part of a team. The successful individual is expected to develop a viable and energetic research program focused in the western Pacific, make collaborative contributions to University STEM-centric research programs, and may also contribute to other local and regional projects in a supporting role. The candidate will have the opportunity to collaborate with faculty that have expertise in marine ecology, coastal oceanography, genomics, systematics, and bioinformatics. The candidate is expected to study the microbiology of tropical reef organisms to establish novel research projects and to complement ongoing studies at the Marine Laboratory. To develop a successful research program, the candidate is expected to seek extramural funding and recruit graduate students. The candidate will be required to develop and teach at least one graduate-level, semester-long course in marine microbiology that will be taught once every two years. The candidate will also be required to develop a seminar course(s) of their own design that will be taught intermittently.
Qualifications:	Minimum: Ph.D. in marine biology, ecology, microbiology, or another appropriate discipline from a U.S. regionally accredited institution or foreign equivalent. Must be willing to teach online. Preferred: At least two years of postdoctoral experience and a strong record of research excellence and creativity demonstrated through publications in peer-reviewed journals. Work experience in remote locations, demonstrated organizational skills, and the ability to deal with unexpected challenges are valued for this position. Demonstrated capacity to garner external research funding is essential. Experience working and teaching in online learning programs.
