

JOB OPPORTUNITY: Now Hiring Survey Workers

Household Income & Expenditures Survey

The Cooperative Extension & Outreach service of the University of Guam and the Guam Bureau of Statistics & Plans and Department of Labor are working together to conduct the Household Income & Expenditures Survey.

We are looking to hire enumerators, or survey workers, who will collect demographic, economic, and housing data from select Guam households. The survey data will be used to update key economic tools, including the Consumer Price Index.

If you enjoy meeting and interacting with people, this is the job for you!

As an enumerator, you will:

- Earn $12.37 per hour as a limited-term Government of Guam employee during the field data collection period
- Travel to designated households to conduct interviews with island residents to help individuals complete an electronic survey
- Answer any questions residents may have regarding the survey
- Undertake a range of procedural, operational, and administrative duties
- Read and navigate maps
- Maintain confidentiality

Qualifications:

- 18 years of age or older
- High school diploma or equivalent
- Valid driver's license and transportation for fieldwork
- Police and court clearances
- Drug test
- Self-motivated
- Able to work autonomously and make decisions independently
- Prior survey experience a plus but not a requirement
- Must be able to work on Saturdays and outside of normal hours until 7 p.m. or 8 p.m.

Interested applicants should contact Mr. Ben Raetilmwai at (671) 735-2062 or uoghies@triton.uog.edu or April Trinidad at april.trinidad@bsp.guam.gov.
